Negrette Victorious In GWUSA Runot

Hatchet Staff Writer

Cesar Negrette used a highly organized campaign and his own immense personal popularity to soundly defeat Rich Lazarnick in the GWUSA presidential runoff Tuesday.

Negrette, currently a GWUSA senator-at-large, scored a surprising 1,046-637 vote over the former Program Board chairman in a race most people, including both candidates, thought would be close.

Even more surprising to many people than Negrette's margin of victory was the voter turnout. Almost 1,700 students cast ballots Tuesday, about 270 more than in st year's runoff, and about the same number as in last year's general election.

Over 2,200 votes were cast in last week's joint elections for GWUSA.

Program Board and Governing Board.

ler Tuesday night. "I feel I've got the message," he said. "I'm deeply grateful for everyone who supported me during the campaign. I'm going to do my very best to make it

"The students have spoken," Lazarnick said. "I'm glad I did it. Cesar will make a good president. He's a good leader and anything I can do to help, I will.

Although Lazarnick seemed take the defeat well, many in his camp seemed stunned, more by the large margin of Negrette's victory than by the fact their candidate lost. Governing Board member Brad McMahon, who campaigned in the past for twice-unsuccessful presi-dential candidate Barry Epstein, summed it up. "This one hurts," he

Negrette said one goal next year would be "converting GWUSA into a strong and viable organization."
He added, "First of all, the very turnout shows the people are very interested. The students have taken a positive role, and this will mark the beginning of an active student

The runoff was required because Negrette failed to get 40 percent of the total presidential vote in the general election last week, as required by the GWUSA constitution. Negrette and Lazarnick took the top two spots in the four-person presidential race, with Steve Cesaro finishing third and Bob King fourth.

campaign, even though it was a lot of work. "I hope I've been able to reach all the people, to find out the problems they consider most important in student government.

Despite the outcome. Lazarnick said "I've run the most effective campaign possible, having gotten into the campaign quite late." He added, "I tried to address the issues which I felt were important.

Lazarnick said he tried a low-key approach "geared to a broad coalition, whereas Cesar quite correctly went after a more narrow one," referring to the ethnic vote.

"I have no regrets," he said. During the campaign, the candi-dates emphasized the differences in their styles. Lazarnick pointed to his Program Board experience in an attempt to show his leadership and ability to pressure the administration to get things done. Negrette said he would be able to work with the administration smoothly, and had the ability to compromise effectively in order to benefit Negrette's exacutive vice president, Bob Dolan, is also a senator this year. Dolan was elected to the number two position last week. They will begin their transitional term in five weeks, and take over their new positions next semester.

Contributing to this story was Larry Olmstead.

Elliott Orders Investigation Into Alleged Airlie Payoff

by Mark Potts
Hatchet Staff Writer
GW President Lloyd H. Elliott

has ordered a University investiga-tion into accusations that a GW official paid off two congressmen and another man in return for help in obtaining $20 million in federal ministration silence on the case. But Elliott would not comment other aspects of the alleged payoffs.

"Here's a case where we've got to see what the accusations are," he said.
"The accusations are such as to be leveled at a number of different contracts.

"We are examining all of our relationships and records." Elliott

To rush in with comments before

Head Denies Charges Of Bribing Legislators

by Mark Potts
Hatchest Staff Writer
Dr. Murdock Head has labeled as "absolutely false" accusations by a former Congressional aide that

Dr. Murdock Head has labeled as "absolutely false" accusations by a former Congressional aide that Head paid off the aide and two congressment is accusated. engressmen in return for help in etting federal grants for GW and a elated research organization.

Inside

Smith Center use.....p. 3 Macke to stay.....p. 4 Cage wrap-up......p. 16

Va.

The charges were made in an affidavit filed by federal investigators in December based on conversations with the former aide, Stephen Elko, who agreed to assist the investigation in return for immunity from future prosecution.

The affidavit, which came to light two weeks ago, claims that Elko, his former boss, Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.) and former Rep. Otto Passman (D-La.) were paid $87,000 (see AIRLIE, p. 5)

the investigations is just—in my book—poor judgment."

GW Comptroller Frederick J. Naramore, named by Elliott to conduct the probe, declined comment on the status of the investiga-tion and would not speculate on when it would be completed.

The case has developed over the ast two weeks. Dr. Murdock Head, chairman of the GW department of medical and public affairs, has reportedly been accused by St Elko, a former aide to Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.), of paying between $40,000 and $87,000 to Flood, Elko and former Rep. Otto Passman (D-La.) in return for help in getting contracts for the GW department and the closely related Airlie Foundation, of which Head is Head, Flood and Passman have denied Elko's charges, contained in an affidavit filed in December by federal investigators in Los Angeles.

"Of course I'm watching, we're watching, very carefully the development of these accusations and the possible findings which may come out of the investigation," Elliott

The FBI is reportedly examin ords for government agen (see INVESTIGATION, p. 5)

Ex-Hospital Official Enters Guilty Plea

William R. Ragland, a former administrator in the GW Medical Center pathology department, pleaded guilty to a single count of embezzlement in D.C. Superior Court Tuesday in connection with the theft of over $15,000 in hospital funds.

Ragland, former administrative manager of the Laboratory Medicine division of the hospital's pathology department, was charged with illegally authorizing hospital payments to be sent to his residence. He allegedly cleared the money by billing the Medical Center for trips for which he had already been reimbursed as well as ordering payments for business trips to be made to persons not employed by the hospital.

According to Court papers filed by the government, the embezzlement took place between September 1974 and September 1977.

Medical Center administrator Donald C. Novak said in December Medical Center administrator Donald C. Novak said in December that hospital authorities were alerted to possible wrongdoing when they noticed unusually large travel expenditures for Ragland's department. An investigation conducted by a University internal audit unit discovered the illegalities, Novak said.

Ragland was dismissed from his $15,000-a-year job at the Medical Center shortly after his arrest last December, hospital authorities said.

Ragland was released on his personal recognizance pending a sentencing hearing scheduled for April 12.

—Charlotte Garvey.

Library AV Room To Expand

Expansion of the audio-visual section of the GW library, which will result in the closing of the eastern portion of the library reserve portion of the library reserve section, will begin next week, according to University Librarian Rupert C. Woodward.

Woodward said the construction will provide space for the library's video equipment. It will house a preview room, a projection room, a video workroom and an auditorium-classroom that will hold about 72. people. In addition, the microfilm facilities will be relocated there.

'Construction is due to begin on March 13." Woodward said.

He added that they will try to have the main wall finished during spring vacation, in order to minimize the noise and confusion. He also said that although floor space would be reduced, the actual number of available seats in the reserve section will remain the same. "We won't lose any seating, it will simply be rearranged," he said.

According to Woodward, construction will last until the end of June, and installation of equipment will take until September.

The construction, Woodward said, is being funded by a $450,000 grant from the Sarah Scaife Foun-dation. The video facilities are to become the regional center for the Yanderbilt Television Engineering

-Stephanie Heacox

Energy Discussed

Nuclear testings flourished during the early Sixties but the Seventies have been a time of nuclear exploratory impasse, according to Dr. Robert Dilloway, staff leader of special investigations for the House Science and Technology Committee. Dilloway blamed Congress for putting the brakes on developing nuclear technology at a lecture given in the Marvin Center March 1.

"Tip O'Neill is not interested (in nuclear plants). He doesn't have the impetus or a strong background," Dilloway remarked.

Since the early Sixties, an alternative energy source to fossil fuels has been a mounting need, "By blind luck and happenstance, the senior members of Congress were strong proponents of nuclear energy," Dilloway acknowleged.

Federal money was pumped into scientific endeavors to explore its capabilities and businesses confidently took steps into the development of nuclear plants.

"Around 1950 a nuclear rocket was introduced as an effective way to propel people," Dilloway said, illustrating the extent of nuclear research at the time.

The recession in the early 1970's resulted in a tightened budget and a native energy source to fossil fuels resulted in a tightened budget and a "fight for funds" until "the total energy budget divided," Dilloway said.

"That halt in the nuclear budget has caused a dramatic slowdown in the percentage of nuclear develop-ment. Right now, we're playing catch-up with the Europeans,"- he

There have been a lot of scare stories especially about plutonium leakage," Dilloway said. "But the probability of that happening is

-Dory Briggs

Students To Attend Model U.N. Session

by Feltz Winternitz Hatchet Staff Writer

If you're interested in becoming a er of the Ivory Coast delegation to the United Nations participating in a National Security Council meeting, Andy Childers is the man to talk to.

Childers is co-founder of the World Affairs Society, an on-campus organization devoted to the study of international diplomacy. It recently participated in a simulated meeting of the Security Council in Georgetown and is organizing to attend a mock U.N. meeting in New York over spring break.

Childers describes the society, which boasts a membership of 34 students, as being "very open to new people and fresh ideas. It can be enriching for students who study nolitical science in depth or those who are only marginally interested... We don't care what your brand of politics is just so long as you are interested."

The society, which is representing the Ivory Coast at the six-day mock U.N. conference at the Statler Hilton Hotel in New York, also plans to sponsor speakers on international politics and student debates. According to Childers, each club participating in the Model U.N. represents a country it has closely researched.

Russell Scianna, a senior at the Georgetown University School of Foreign Services and a former GW tempted to form a club similar to the Society at GW in 1974, but failed. He attributed the failure to "lack of proper funding and the fact that student interest, while high when the club started, died off during the school year.

Burton Sapin, dean of the School of Public and International Affairs, compared the interest in simulated conferences and international affairs socieities to "a business cycle. It comes and goes along the years. Clubs like this start up and fizzle out in a matter of onths. They have had so many different names that I can't even remember what it was called the last time."

Sapin says he is always willing to provide these groups with advice and that he can supply limited financing from his discretionary fund, but that "it's basically their

Mary Beth Bleeker, a member of the society, says the "club is growing around the few events we have had, but we need ideas." Bleeker calls the Model U.N. and other similar simulations "a learning experience. By attending simulated meetings and debating over current topics of controversy, we experience for our-selves the difficulties that arise and can better understand our diplomacy and the needs of countries."

Childers thinks "the society will student, has been appointed Secretary. General of the Model U.N. Scianna, who was appointed to his position by the National Collegiate Conference Association that sponsors the simulated meetings of services and a former of Children than the Society will student think the Society will student think the Society will student t

Edgar Johnston Dies; Retired GW Professor

Edgar Johnston, former professor of math at GW and professor emeritus, died last Thursday at his nome of an apparent heart attack. He was 80.

Johnston joined the GW math faculty in 1924 and advanced to the rank of full professor before his retirement in 1964, when he was made professor emeritus.

Graduated in 1914 from Alexandria High School he received an A.B. from GW in 1921, before going A.b. from Gw in 1921, before going to the University of Illinois for his Master of Arts, which he received in 1923. He also received a Ph.D. from the University of Illinois with his major area of study in math. Johnston then was an instructor of math at Illinois for two years before coming to GW.

Johnston was a member of the Society of the Cincinnati and the Cosmos Club, and also a member of the Mathematics Society of America and the American Mathematics and the American Mathematics Society. He served as president of the Philosophical Society of Washington from 1948 to 1949 and was a member of the American Association of University Professors as well as Sigma XI, a science honor society.

Johnston also was a fellow of the Washington Academy of Sciences and the American Association of the and the American Association of the Advancement of Science. Surviving are his widow, the former Margaret Sage Hildreth; a stepson, Dr. Arthur McLean Hil-dreth of Baltimore, and three stepdaughters. Johnston lived in Rockville during his retirement.

This is the last edition of the Hatchet until March 23. Have a good spring vacation

A career in law without law school.

What can you do with only a bachelor's degree?
Now there is a way to bridge the gap between an undergraduate education and a challenging, responsible career. The Lawyer's Assistant is able to do work traditionally done by lawyers.

Three months of intensive training can give you the skills—the courses are taught by lawyers. You choose one of the seven courses offered—choose the city in which you want to work.

Since 1970, The Institute for Paralegal Training has placed more than 2,000 graduates in law firms, banks, and corporations in ower 80 cities.

If you are a serilor of high academic standing and are interested in a career as a Lawyer's Assistant, we'd like to meet you.

Contact your placement office for an interview with our

We will visit your campus on:

Monday, April 10

The Institute for Paralegal Training

235 South 17th Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19103 (216) 732-6600 Operated by Para-Legal, Inc.

A Representative Of

The University of Michigan Graduate School of Education will be on campus March 16

From 1:00pm to 5:00pm in the Marvin Center, Room 401, to visit with prospective minority students.

For further information, contact Miss Andrea Stewart in the Fellowship Information Center.

Athletics Putting 'Squeeze' On HKLS, Chairman Says

by Victoria Hirschland Hatchet Staff Writer

The department of human kinetics and leisure studies (HKLS) is "being squeezed out" of the Smith Center, its chairman says, even though the building's use policies state that HKLS classes have top

James L. Breen, chairman of HKLS, said the priorities appear to be for athletics. "We're tenants over there," he said. "Maybe some of those priorities ought to be rede-fined."

According to Smith Center Director Robert K. Faris, HKLS classes have first priority in Smith Center scheduling. He added that men's and women's varsity athletics are second, intramural sports third, recreation-free play fourth, and outside activities last.

Faris said, however, that although HKLS does have first priority, if he has to make a choice between letting 50 use an area for intramurals or recreation and letting 20 use it for a class, he would let the 50 students

Jeanne E. Snodgrass, who sche-dules the Smith Center for HKLS. said the system usually works. "We do feel some pressure from the Smith Center in trying to schedule some time periods. We have had to make a few changes, but none to jeopardize the service program."

Snodgrass cited some problems she has in scheduling classes into she has in scheduling classes into the building. The biggest is the lack of flexibility in scheduling—she must ask for a room and time slot one semester in advance, and if a class is over-enrolled at registration she can't split it because she can't get another room.

get another room.

Snodgrass also said the President's Club is a problem because it schedules a large amount of time during "prime time hours." But, she concedes, it is an important source of funding, so other Smith Center usets must put up with the inconvenience of not being able to use some of the facilities at those use some of the facilities at those

There are 1,016 President's Club members who each paid a $1,000 membership fee and $250 annually to use the Smith Cente

Snodgrass added that home bas-Snodgrass added that home bas-ketball games also present a prob-lem because all classes must be cancelled at 5:30 on those nights. This only happens three times a semester, but last semester all three semester, out last semester all three times caused the same classes to be cancelled, fencing and conditioning. Some students in a beginning tennis class say HKLS's status is evidenced by the size of their classroom, which they say is too small for a group their size. They priority it would either have a larger oom or fewer students in the class

The building is being used a lot more than originally expected. Those interviewed believe this has a variety of causes including the passage of Title IX, which requires comparable athletic facilities for men and women, and the increased fitness awareness of students.

Breen said that "if you look at the building without women's athletics, it would meet our needs."

Over-utilization of the Smith Center has recently become an issue. classes such as this karate class are supposed to get top priority.

Deadlock Continues In Talks Between GW, Security Union

Negotiations have been at a standstill between the union representing the GW security force and University negotiators since a con-tract proposal was defeated by union members in December, 17 to

James E. Clifford, director of personnel services and the head of the GW negotiators, said "the problem is that the University has no idea what position the union is

He said that Daniel Cunningham, president of the Federation of Special Police and Law Enforce-

Special Police and Law Enforcement Officers, the union representing the guards, and Hy Jaffe, the union's business agent, were bargaining for different things.

However, Lewis Robinson, the union delegate on the security force, contends that, "the main problem is the union membership clause." According to Robinson, the University has proposed that new members of the force must decide within 30 days after they are hired whether or not to join the union. During the first 90 days, guards are on probation, and may be dismissed for any reason without being "entitled to any grievance," Robinson said.

Robinson claims that this will give the University a chance to fire a because of his membership in the

There is "gross confusion" in terms of the union identifying with a position, according to Clifford. He feels that there is a conflict with respect to leadership. When asked about the union membership clause he said everybody in the union is placing emphasis on different is-

Currently the security force is an open shop, meaning that new members are not forced to join the union, but they will receive the same benefits as union members.

Other issues in contention include seniority and pay. Robinson said the last time the guards received a raise was in July 1976. He says the guards need a raise to bring their pay scale up to a par equal to that of other University security guards.

The union officials and the University negotiators had agreed on a contract Dec. 14. However the security force membership voted it down forcing the new negotiations.

"The people that will ultimately suffer are the people in University," Robinson said.

RHA Completes Study Of Dormitory Safety

A study released this week by the Residential Hall Association (RHA) recommends that students take a greater awareness of security prob-lems in dormitories and that a number of physical changes be made to insure greater dorm safety.

The study was approved by the RHA Sunday after it was completed by the Security Committee.

The three areas of concern in the report were the physical problems, the resident's awareness and apathy problems and dealing with future

Under physical problems, the committee suggested that all access doors be immediately reviewed for security purposes, all first floor windows in all dorms be secured, especially Strong Hall which does not have bars, and that peepholes and/or chains should be installed on all resident doors.

Ann Webster, director of housing, said she received a copy of the report but did not wish to comment until she discussed it with the committee tomorrow

"I think it's a good report," said Merrill S. Meadow, chairman of the committee. It took two months to mplete the report.

Also included in the report were suggestions to increase student awareness of the problem. committee recommended that a brochure outlining resident respon-sibilities be distributed and that the residence hall staff be briefed at the beginning of each year on dorm ocurity.

Red Cross on you.

In the area of future security problems, the report recommended that Physical Plant regularly inspect security systems on campus such as major door locks, window bars and fire alarms. It also suggested that the president of GWUSA appoint a special assistant for campus safety.

—Charles Barthold

Food Board Will Keep Macke Another Year

by Rajni Bakshi ,

The Joint Food Services Board did not go out for bids on the food service contract this year and is planning to renew its contract with Macke, the current food service at GW.

Jeff Rothman, president of the board, said there are no major changes expected in the food services as a result of the renewal.

It is University policy to go out for bids every three years, and under this policy the board is not due to go out for bids until next year Rothman said.

If the board is very dissatisfied with the firm under contract, it will go out for bids, he said. "You go out for bids if the contract is really screwing up."

Rothman claimed that hiring another catering company would change very little. The only change would be in management, and basically the food would be the same because the same employees, recipes and equipment would remain, he

The amount of money students spend on the various meal plans should also be taken into account, Rothman said. "There is only so much you can do with that money," he added.

Rothman said he is aware that most students feel that Macke is "riping them off," but added, "I don't think they are."

Most of the changes being considered involve pricing and menu changes. The Housing Office has already announced a rise in the cost of meal plans for next year. It says the 19 meal plan will cost $860 for two semesters, a rise of $30 over this year; the 14 meal plan will cost $180, up $60, and the 10 meal plan will go up $28 to $680.

However, Rich Dipippo, vice chairman of the board, said the exact amounts charged for each meal plan will not be determined until the end of March, when the contract is expected to be signed. He said that any rises would be due to inflation.

Dipippo said that when they consider price rises for meal plans they take into account that about 65 percent of the 19 meat plan tickets are used while 84 percent of the 14 meal plan tickets and 95 percent of the 10 meal tickets. He said if everyone used their 19 meal tickets the meal plan would cost them over $1,000.

Alan Clarkson, food services director, said it is difficult to describe all the contract changes because the pact is still under negotiation. Clarkson does not anticipate any problems in renewing the contract.

GILLIES THRIFTY 21

2101 PENNSYLVANIA AVE., WASHINGTON D.C.

TELEPHONE: 331 - 7171

STROH'S KEGS

2299

TX. & Deposit

EXTRA SPECIAL

Rum & COCA Cola 3 to Btls.

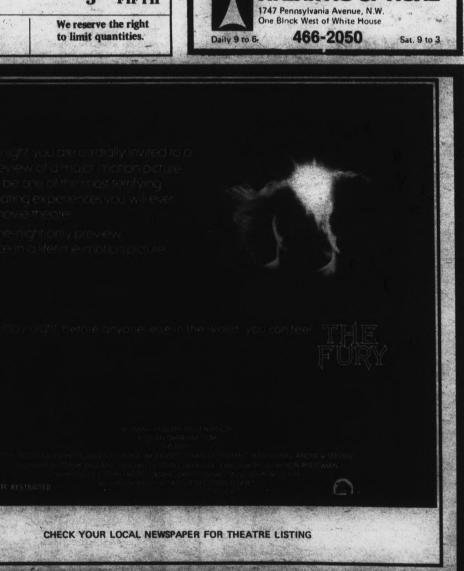

Coca Cola

990

BLACKBEARD RUM
3° FIFTH

Prices Effective: Thur., Fri., Sat., March 9, 10, 11

GW Students Walking In Charity Hike

A number of GW organizations are actively involved in a 20-mile walkathon scheduled for March 25, which will benefit the D.C. Society for Crippled Children.

Forms are available at the Marvin Center for those wishing to sign up sponsors and participate in the walk. The walk will start at 9 a.m. at the Lincoln Memorial and will go down Constitution Avenue, up to 15th Street past the zoo and then back toward Georgetown.

The Program Board is planning

The Program Board is planning to give a party for the walkers afterwards. So far 1,100 have signed up. Other GW groups involved include GWUSA, fraternity Sigma Chi, Strong Hall and the Community Services Committee of the Residence Hall Staff.

The money raised in the event will go directly to the Society for Crippled Children which provides services for children aged 1 to 5. The society is an Easter Seals Agency. Currently 100 GW students are involved in organizing the event. For more information call Lisa Kyle at 676-7973.

GPA Holds Gay Rights Discussion

Gay rights are "an important and basic element of human rights," stated Lee Novick, national conference coordinator of International Women's Year, in a panel discussion, "Lesbian Rights vs. Equal Rights" held last night.

Charlotte Bunch, lesbian activist and contributing writer for several feminist publications, said, "We still do face the fear that the lesbian issue will detract from the women's rights issue."

Bunch referred to a resolution supporting lesbian rights that was passed at the national conference for International Women's Year held in Houston last November as "a grass roots victory," saying, "I think the women's movement made an enormous leap forward."

Bunch also said, "It's time for gay

Bunch also said, "It's time for gay men to make clear that the issues are inseparable," referring to women's rights and lesbian rights.

men's rights and lesbian rights.
Also on the panel were Dr. Jesse Bernard, sociologist, and Pauline Mahon-Stetson, Manpower development of Manp wer. The discussion, which was moderated by Pamela Layng, was sponsored jointly by the Gay People's Alliance and the Program Board.

Charges Are 'Absolutely False' In Airlie Affair, Head Says

AIRLIE, from p. 1
by Head in exchange for their assistance in obtaining about $20 million worth of federal contracts for projects to be conducted jointly by Airlie and the University.

Elko has since told press interviewers the amount allegedly paid by Head was closer to $40,000.

by Head was closer to $40,000.

Although GW and Airlie officials emphasize that the two organizations are separate, and have no direct financial stake in each other, the top management of Airlie serves as the top management for the department of medical and public forms. department of medical and public affairs, described by medical center officials as being an interdisciplina-ry program bringing together stud-ies in biological and environmental

Most of the GW-Airlie contracts in question were for a joint project in population control, but the two organizations have also co-produced zations have also co-produced training films and seminars on drug abuse, pollution and heart disease. Head's denial of the charges was released Tuesday by Frank Kava-naugh, a GW professor and founda-tion official who says he speaks only for Airlie. The University has had little comment on the matter, pending an investigation into the charges ordered by GW President Lloyd H. Elliott. (See related story

Kavanaugh, who described Elko "screwball," also released several Airlie Foundation documents rebutting other charges made against the foundation by governent officials and contained in

Contract For Concert Approved

Board and singer Bonnie Raitt was approved Friday by Vice President and Treasurer Charles E. Diehl, clearing the way for her scheduled April 9 Smith Center concert.

Laura Rogers, chairperson of the board, said tentatively the tickets will go on sale at the Marvin Center Information Desk March 13. She said the warm-up group for the concert will be Catfish Hodge, a local blues band.

Diehl said there were few differences in what the board proposed and the agreement he signed.

Besides providing a protective floor covering for the Smith Center playing surface the Program Board is constructing a stage at the north end of the arena. They also plan to use eight of GW's security guards and up to 40 students trained by and up to 40 students trained by those guards to provide security for the event, which begins at 8 p.m. Rogers said the tickets initially will be sold only on the GW campus, but if sales are slow they will be offered for sale at other area university campuses.

Last year the Program Board had scheduled Livingston Taylor and Poco to appear at the Smith Center, but it was canceled after Poco decided not to go on its spring tour.

federal documents made available recently under the Freedom of ation Act.

Head's denial was in the form of a statement to the Airlie Foundation board of directors made Feb. 27.

Because of Flood's position as an appropriations subcommittee chairinvolved with government grants, according to Head, "it was inevitable for someone in my position to come in contact with his position to come in contact with his top assistant, Mr. Elko, who openly represented himself to be the Congressman's alter ego."

But rather than Head making any offer to Elko, the foundation director said, Elko came to Head late last fall and demanded monnot in return for influence, but to help pay legal fees in connection with Elko's conviction on bribery and fraud charges last fall.

Head said he refused, and speculates that "Mr. Elko leveled these accusations against me be-cause I failed to help him in his time not available for comment. His lawyer, however, confirmed that Elko did ask Head for help with legal expenses, according to the Washington Post.

Head's statement paints a picture of Elko having rather free use of the foundation's 200-acre facility at Warrenton, about 50 miles from Washington.

"Mr. Elko visited the Airlie Foundation...on a number of occasions." Head said. "It was easy to detect Mr. Elko's delight at being elcomed at Airlie."

Elko brought with him to Airlie present and former public officials, including Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp, Head said, adding, "While I have no doubt that he was using Airlie as a calling card, I frankly considered it harmless at the time."

"My staff and I," Head continwent out of our way not to offend Mr. Elko."

Head said the foundation even offered a job to the daughter of Patricia Brislin, who describes herself as Elko's girlfriend and has been convicted on charges stemming from the same case Elko was convicted in.

As a result of the hospitality afforded to Elko by Airlie, Head said, "Mr. Elko, I have little doubt, promoted Airlie in Congressman Flood's office and touted our conference center, the films we produced and other Foundation programs."

Head suggested, however, that Elko "considered Airlie indebted to him for his efforts" and as a result came to Head seeking money for his

Head's statement to the Airlie board said the other charges against the foundation made by government agencies—which include cost overagencies—which include cost over-runs on programs and the allegedly illegal sale of the rights to a film series produced by Airlie and GW for the National Institute of Mental are false.

"The results of the audits and evaluations have been positive in all cases," Head said. "Our performance... has been consistent with our tradition of excellence."

The documents released by Kavanaugh, which include congratulatory and supportive documents from vernment agencies, seem to back up Head's contention.

Head, who has been unavailable for comment, told the foundation's board of directors that it is being audited by the Internal Revenue Service, and added, "I believe we should request the federal authorities to conduct a thorough review as promptly as possible."

Mirror Plack with Crazy Caption

For April Fool Gift-order before break hang for grooming by desk, bed, or john Mirror and Saying on 9x7 stained knotty-pine

Circle desired caption number (your wit $6, ours $5)

- 1. Your creation
- 4. Ugly is ugly!
- 2. In thee I see perfection
- 5. Kiss my glass!
- 3. Peek into frankenstein's window

Mail $5 or $6 (includes tax & mail) to syco-plak 12808 Huntsman Way, Potomac MD., 20854

ADDRESS

ZIP

Lloyd Elliott pledges complete cooperation

Murdock Head denies charges

Elliott Orders Investigation Of Alleged Payoffs

INVESTIGATION, from p. 1 which have done business with Airlie, a research organization and convention center located in War-

Elliott said the University has not been approached by the FBI, but pledged "complete" cooperation if the agency did contact GW. An Airlie spokesman said the foundation would also cooperate with a federal investigation.

Although Airlie and GW are not directly connected, the management personnel of Airlie and the University department of medical and public affairs are virtually identical. According to Airlie Associate Director Frank Kavanaugh, who is also a GW professor, the University is the only outside organization the foundation participates in projects with.

Head was a GW faculty member for several years before he started the Airlie Foundation in 1959. The University's relationship with Airlie began shortly after the organization was founded

THINKING ABOUT TRAVELLING ... SPRING BREAK

SUMMER VACATION?

LONDON from Dulles......$319 CALIFORNIA from Dulles..$219 OR TO ANYWHERE ELSE IN THE WORLD

CALL OR DROP BY TODAY WISH TO TREK IN THE HIMALAYAS?

WE HAVE IT!

s International Travel Agency, Inc 1627 K Street, N.W. (Suite 620) Weshington, D.C. 20006 (202) 466-5640

RACK WHEN I WAS IN SCHOOL, MY BASERALI COACH TOLD ME THAT SOMEDAY THERE O BE A LESS FILLING BEER, HE ALSO TOLD ME TO TRY OUT FOR GLEE CLUB?

Mary Throneberry Baseball Legend

EER FROM AHREER.

JOSE ALWAYS WANTED

EE R. AND LESS.

5,1978 Miller Brewing Co., Milwaukee, Wis

Transcript Of Nazi Interview

The following is a transcript of a Program Board video committee program. In it, John Saler, head of that committee, interviews Harold Mantius, organizer for the National Socialist White People's Party. Because the board, fearing attempts to disrupt the screening, decided not to show the film in order not to risk the safety of students, the Hatchet is printing the transcript as a service to our readers. The interview is presented in its entirety, and has not been altered or edited in any way. The Hatchet takes no responsibility for the questions asked by Saler, or for the views expressed by Saler and Mantius. The Program Board and Saler disclaim responsibility for the views expressed by Mantius.

Saler: Good evening and welcome to GW Spectrum. The Nazi Party ruled the nation of Germany from 1933 to 1945. The party received its power mainly due to the great economic stress that was prevalent in Germany at that time. My guest this evening on GW Spectrum is the national organizer of the National Socialist White People's Party. Harold Mantius and his organization, headquartered in Arlington, Virginia, subscribe to the writings of Adolf Hitler. Good evening sir.

evening sir.

Mantius: Good evening.

S: I'd like to start off by asking you the platform of your party and what exactly are you trying to bring across in the United States?

Onited States?

M: Well, essentially our platform revolves around racial lines. We believe in white racial supremacy and what we're attempting to do is to work towards an all-white country.

S: Through what means? Holocaust?

all-white country.

S: Through what means? Holocaust?

M: Well, not necessarily. What we intend to do is to come to power through entirely legal means and once we're in power to implement our policies.

S: Now, so far as membership in your certain organization. Now there are splinter groups of the Nazi teachings in the United States such as the organization in Skokie (Illinois) and your organization I believe is the largest in the country, at least the first. How many people approximately are members of your organization?

M: We don't give out membership figures. We keep those strictly confidential. But we're extremely small. But its misleading because if we were to hold an election we believe through our own experience and our intuition that we could get somewhere close to 10 percent of the white vote in this country if we were to hold an election.

S: Now Newsweek magazine did an additionation of the Newsweek magazine did an election.

were to hold an election.

S: Now Newsweek magazine did an article on the Nazi Party and Nazi teachings and they said "there's approximately 1,000 in this nation." Do you expect to recieve a majority of votes? Are you talking about elections, Presidential elections, or local elections or what exactive?

exactly?

M: I would have to say local elections and of course this would vary across the country depending of course on specificity situations. If we were to go to an area like Chicago, Milwaukee or Boston where they have a large degree of racial strife, the percentage of the return would be greater than if we went to an area that didn't have that racial strife. But by and large our indications indicate that 10 percent of the white people are in rege our maleations indicate that it of the white people are in rappathy with our platform although tey may or may not know it.

5: What do you consider white people?

M: Well, the way to racially define are exceptions.

S: OK, we'll go into those exceptions a little later on. Exactly what is your personal background? I know you went to Princeton University and from your accent it sounds like your from New England or upstate New York. What exactly was your background religiously and morally?

and morally?

Mi My mother was Catholic and my father was Protestant. But I would say that any Christian background I had was purely nominal. Education-wise I graduated from high school in Connecticut and went to the University of Rhode Island and received a B.S. in chemical engineering. Then I spent a couple of years studying graduate work at Princeton and URL.

S: So in other words you're not an Aryan by the true sense of the word. When I mean Aryan Catholic seems to exclude Aryan. Adolf Hitler, Goebbels, Goehring in Germany did not subscribe to Catholic teachings or even to the Catholic religion and there were and I'll get into this in a moment about concentration camps and the killings in Germany. I know you don't believe that there were any such things but he (Hitler) killed approximately, to Defense Department figures, 2 million Catholics. Now how could one be a member of a Nazi Party and be religiously a Catholic?

M: There seems to be a little confusion with the terms here. Aryan is a racial term and not a religious one. A person can be a Mohammadan and still be an Aryan and a person can be a Hindu and can be a Monammadan and still be an Aryan and a person can be a Hindu and be an Aryan or a Catholic or a Protestant. Now, it so happens that Adolf Hitler his household was a Catholic household. So there is no happened to be there. How do you explain this?

Interviewer John Saler, left; Nazi supporter Harold Mantius, right.

M: I believe Goebbels testimony did not relate to any extermination in so-called death camps.

S: Where were they exterminated? M: Well, what he was calling for was a Well, all races are biologically inferior to the Aryans. That is self evident."

S: What's your definition of an Aryan?

S: What's your definition of an Aryan?

M: An Aryan is a person who shares substantially in the genetic heritage of the people up North, or the Nordic race and similar races of Northern Europe.

S: All right, I'd like to get into the subject of concentration camps. You've claimed that concentration camps in Germany and Poland were the equivalent of Japanese relocation camps in the United States. Is that not correct?

M: Correct.

M: Correct.

S: And the death figures furnished by the Swiss Red Cross were 300,000 died of typhoid. That's what you used in a previous interview. How do you qualify these figures when experts in the Defense Department and other organizations say that 3 to 6 million lews were killed and some 2 million Catholics and even Protestants were killed and not by twohold.

M: Well, I can't reconcile those figures. All I can say is that obviously one set of figures is wrong. And I would say that the sources of information that are pushing the extermination legends are doing so for various political reasons.

S: I'm talking about the Defense Department that is run the majority of the generals and the upper echelon of the Defense Department are not Jews and are not Black.

M: Well I ken

are not Black.

M: Well I have to plead ignorance in this case because I am not familiar with these reports you are talking about.

S: OK. But I'd like to know other figures of people who are not Jewish. Oh, the Newsweek magazine article, I don't know if you read that about Goebbels diary that we'll go into in a moment. He claimed that they killed Jews left and right. This corraborating testimony between you and Joseph Goebbels who general action against the Jewish people towards the end of the war. This had nothing to do with any kind of systematic program during the war. Highly different situation.

S: I'd like to ask you you're personal feelings about Jews. We have organizations in the United States like the Ku Klux Klan and other organizations. They don't like them Jews) for their own reasons. Why don't you like them? Are they biologically inferior? And I know that you think blacks are biologically inferior due to a lesser developed frontal lobe. Where did you receive the information about the black brain and also what are your feelings about Jews and why?

and why?

M: Well, all races are biologically inferior to the Aryans. That is self evident. Other races...

S: What makes it self evident?

M: It's historically self evident, just by following the history of various peoples. It's physiologically self evident and I would say it's genetically self evident to people who know about the biological realities...

S: Who knows? Is it written in books? Evidence, I want evidence because of course you know as well as I do in this course you know as well as I do in this country...

M: Granted, we do have evidence in terms of literature. One of the recent books to come out on the racial differences was a sociobiology written by Wilson who is a professor and he deals with the whole subject of evolution from a socio-biological standphint and in his final chapter he deals with how this final chapter he deals with how this fielates to human species. So here is a bit of evidence right here where we have racial differences that are very explicit, ned to be there. How do you very known to people in the scientific

S: Do you have any religious views at

S: You do? OK. Do you feel that God s: You do? Ok. Do you teel that God made us all equal or created us in His own image? I don't like getting in a religious thing here. I really don't, but I'd like to know if you feel that way. Or did God make a mistake when He made

M: I completely reject the Christian concept of religion with regard to universal brotherhood. It's absurd and it universal brotherhood. It's absurd and it runs contrary to National Socialist's doctrine. I completely reject it.

S: As I asked before, what are your feelings about. Jews? There's great anti-Semitism in the world and some people don't understand why. In this country our former vice president was on a talk show, Spiro Agnew, and he got flustered and said to Barbara Walters "Well those damn Jews run the broadcasting companies. Those damn Jews run this and that." Why don't you like Jews? I know why he doesn't.

M: The Jew is a biological opposite of the Aryan.

the Aryan.

S: In what respect?

M: Spiritually. Whereas the Aryar people are dominated by an idealistic attitude, be it love, concept of honor, the willingness of self sacrifice, an idealistic attitude towards the concept of work. The Jews are exactly the opposite. They are dominated by egoistic attitudes, self concern as opposed to concern for others and this manifests itself in their nature. Heavy were dishonest. Where-nature... they're very dishonest. Whereas an Aryan has a tendency to always tell the truth and be forthright, a Jew is very conniving, deceifful and...

S: Then how do you account for Hitler's big lie?

M: There's a good example right there of Jewish propaganda techniques...

S: Oh that was Jewish propaganda?

M: If you bother to read Mein Kompf you will see that Hitler berides the big lie technique used by not only by the Jews but other lying societies to deceive people and he says this is a technique to be looked down upon. But of course the Jewish media has seized upon this phrase and says this applies to German propaganda techniques which is entirely false.

S: So all Jews are liars?

M: A large body.

S: Tomorrow, hypothetically if you fell into the Potomac. No friends were around and a Jew or a black man saved your life you'd have the same feeling about that person? Or would you think in your opinion that a Jew or a black man would just let you drown?

M: Well of course 1d be grateful to those individuals but that does not change the biological reality of the racial situation. The fact is regardless of how many blacks save my life they're still on a lower level evolutionary wise. They're biologically a lower form of life. I can't change that. There's nothing I can do to change that. That's simply fact, that's simply reality.

'They're (blacks and Jews) biologically a lower form of life.

S: Do you believe in the Constitution (the United States?

M: Yes, with limitations

S; What's the limitation? All men are eated equal?

M: I would say this. It was a fine doctrine written for a particular people at a particular point in time. It might not apply 100 years from now. There has to be a certain amount of flexibility in this regard.

S: I'd like to delve in a little more to the Jewish question and also other questions. What other people are you against or are biologically inferior to the Aryan race besides Jews and blacks?

against or are biologically inferior to the Aryan race besides Jews and blacks?

M: Tel like to rephrase that in the following sense. We are for our own type of people. It doesn't mean that we necessarily harbor any animosity against other people but we wish to promote our own type of people. Now unfortunately in the United States we're forced in a condition where we have to be antagonistic towards other racial groups because they threaten our very survival. The best example of that of course is the blacks or your Mexicans or your Puerto Ricans who have unbelievably high birth rates and they're threatening to engulf the nation in a population explosion. So obviously they're a threat to our survival. These people are a threat to our survival just by their breeding habits. It's not that we hold an animosity towards them but we recognize that we must come to grips with the problem.

5: Do you think that's because their frontal lobes are screwed up or because they're not educated property?

M: Like I said without getting into specifies these people are.

S: I'd like to get into specifics.

Interview Sparked Debate

The interview with Harold Mantius was originally filmed Feb. 10 and was intended to be shown Feb. 27, but after protests from such groups as the Jewish Activist Front UAF) and the Black People's Union, the Program Board held a meeting for all interested parties in order to decide whether to show it or not.

The meeting was held Feb. 16 and after 1½ hours of debate, the board decided by a 7-0 vote to show the film despite objections from many campus groups.

despite objections from many campus groups.

On Feb. 21, the GWUSA Senate voted 12-3 to condemn the Program Board's decision to air the interview. However, three days later, Joe LaMagna, president of GWUSA, vetoed the resolution because he resident of GWUSA, vetoed the resolution because he onsidered "it was going a bit far on our part." Meanwhile the board had stood by its decision to now the interview, which was conducted by John R. aler, the board's video committee chairman, and had re-scheduled it for Feb. 28 in the Marvin Center first

That same Friday though, the board decided not to show the interview because of "threats promising violence at the program." The members of the board said they were primarily concerned that the Committee Against Racism (CAR) might disrupt the showing in a way that could lead to GW students being placed in physical danger.

When Mantius was asked his reaction to all the commotion surrounding the interview he said "it's something that could be expected." Mantius said his group has had its run-ins with CAR before and he claimed they're a "very violent group." He said that after one confrontation persons from both sides had to be hospitalized.

Text Of Harold Mantius Interview

NAZI, from p. 7

M: OK. These people are lower forms of human life. For instance your blacks are on the evolutionary level of Neandertals quite simply and the Neandertal race was a race that they call Homo Sapien oe as opposed to modern man which they call Homo Sapien Sapien. Where your blacks are on the same level as Neandertals, they're Homo Sapiens.

S: Oh, there's a Homo Sapien Sapien?

M: Yes.

S: I wasn't familiar with that. Go on

M: Well these people are on a lower level, consequently they're in a society that is too complex for their biological level, as a result they find themselves in the lower strata of society and this accounts for their high crime rate, the social unrest for ...

S: You don't think powerty does that?

M: Well, yes, but the poverty is a consequence of their biological position in society.

in society.

S: How do you account for people like Andrew Young, Wiffiam Coleman and Patricia Harris making it to the top?

M: Well, they have people like Jimmy Carter putting them there.

M: Well, they have people like limmy Carter putting them there.

S: Let's give a little background on William Coleman as an example. William Coleman graduated University of Pennsylvania law school and the University of Pennsylvania Phi Betta Kappa. Now how do you think he got to the top? He copied off the Aryan next to him in the lecture hall?

M: Well the fact that colored people are given advanced degrees only indicates the low value of such degrees. It doesn't indicate any intellectual endowments on their part. I know that they have minority programs at most universities where colored are simply enrolled

M: Right. Well the Jews in Israel are M: Right. Well the Jews in Israel are simply a parasite colony that has been transplanted outside the Western world and put in the Near East. They survive simply by the Zionist power structures in the United States and Western Europe funneling money to keep the state alive. They're very unproductive people. This is another myth that they try to force in the media that they're very productive people, that they're carving the country out of the land, but that's just false that's just orrowseanda.

S: We delved into Jews for a moment—your personal views on Jews and their dishonesty. You mentioned on that show on WAMU that they get into kinky sex and they like S & M and things ic system where your unproductive people your people who are more concerned with money manipulation, speculation, etc. gain more reward for their effort than people who work an honest living. You take for instance in the United States the farming communi-

the United States the larming communi-ty. The farmers don't get anywhere near what they should get for their labors. But the grain concerns, the middle men, they're the ones who reap in the profits because they control both the supply and

S: I'd like you to be a little more complete insofar what is your answer for them reaching the top of the different industries of clothing, food, broadcasting etc. May I remind you all that they don't run the banking business yet.

M: Let use lead into that by saying that they do run the banking business. The lews do control the banking business in the United States. . . . S: They do?

S: They do?

M: It's not necessarily that they control the commercial banks on the lower level. They control the Wall Street banks, Golman Sachs, Lehman Bros.,

S: You're talking about stock broker-age houses. I'm talking about banks. I'm talking about loaning concerns. I'm talking about Chase Manhattan and David Rockefeller. The talking about Bank of America. I don't know the man's name but he's an Italian Catholic in California. Those are the banks, I'm not talking about stock brokerage not talking about stock brokerage houses.

M: Well these so called stock brokerage houses loan money to governments, loan money to such corporations to General Motors. They are banks in the pure sense of the word. Only they deal in multi-millions as opposed to other banks which only deal on a lower level.

S: I wish I had a New York Times here but with the capital that other country or concerns receive is from a bank, not a stock brokerage house. These people may have connections with the banks. I'm saying that the banking industry i.e. loan companies like HFC, Beneficial, Chase Manhattan. Rockefeller to my knowledge is as Protestant as they come.

M: That's open to dispute but when you're talking about the banking system—there is a book out by the way that traces his lineage and it does turn out that he was of Lebanese Jewish descent.

S: Someone better tall him the

S: OK. Do you consider Bert Lance a

S: OK. He had majority stock holdings 5: OK. He had majority stock holdings in I think First Chicago or some large bank. The top 20 banks in the country. Now he as you can see got into a little bit of trouble. He is not a Jew. He is not a of trouble. He is not a Jew. He is not a black. I consider him an Aryan for all I know. You're saying Aryans don't make mistakes like that. I'm not saying that the Jews do. I'm saying there are no scrupulous Aryans in the world. All Aryans are honest, all Aryans care about

M: Of course not. Of course that's not the case but when you compare races you compare the better elements of a race to the better elements of another. You don't compare the averages. You don't compare the worst of one with the best of another. Bert Lance is not an Aryan to

Mr. Joseph Remedy is of Aryan descent, rue;
S: He is of Aryan descent, well bootlegging in my opinion and this is a known fact about Joseph Kennedy when he came to Pittsburgh was a bootlegger. Now I wouldn't call that caring about your next door neighbor about caring about the land. I think he cared a lot about that house he bought up in Hyannis, Massachusetts.

yannis, Massachusetts.

M: I would agree, but then again like I by you don't compare the worst ements of one race and take them as standard bearers. You take the best elements of a race. If you're going to talk standard bearers. You take the best elements of a race. If you're going to talk about the Aryan race you talk about people like Leonardo Da Vinci and Michelangelo. You talk about people like this—the standard bearers of the Aryan race. These are the people you talk about. If you talk about the Jews you talk about people like the Rothchilds.

5: You think they're good, not serunalous?

unscrupulous of the unscrupulous, but they're the standard bearers of the sh race.

S: Oh, you mean there are no good Jews but all the Aryans are good in other words. You just said to me that you don't take the worst and compare it to the best.

S: For the Aryans or for everyone?

S: For the Aryans or for everyone?

M: For everyone.

S: You're choosing Jews out like one two three and saying they're no good.

M: The standard bearers of the Aryan race are people like I mentioned. The best of our race, The standard bearers of the Jewish race on the other hand are people like the Rothehilds. The fact that people like the Rothchilds. The fact that they are of a particular mentality simply indicates that they are the elite members of the Jewish race and they're bad. That's just it, they're bad apples. S: You picked a banker family. First of all in this world Jews. I don't know of any on the social register at least in this country, because let's face they've been put down a lot throughout their existence I'd like to know whether or not

'The Jews aren't productive, they're parasitical in their nature."

you feel that Jews should be extermina you reet that Jews should be extermina-ted in this country when you take office or when your party takes office. When you reach the majority and should blacks and when in fact will you be in office? That's what I'd like to know.

M: Well, the Jews should be elimina-ted from this country.

M: Well, the sews should be eliminated from this country.

S: How? By what means?

M: Well, we support a program of deportation. Geographic separation.

S: So you're going to kick approximately. 8 million geople out by deporta-

M: If it takes that yes.
S: I'd like to quote an article 1/9/77

(see NAZI, p. 9) morrar

Harold Mantius

of that sort. Do you still believe that afte four weeks? What makes them so low? For instance your blacks are on the evolutionary level of Neandertals.

and they come in one door and out the other four years later. It's not because they deserve to be in school and its not because they're been able to make the grades simply because they're required to graduate so many minority people.

5: So in other words you feel that the blacks are only good for being busboys and basketball players?

M: I feel that the blacks have their own place in their own society but it's not here in America.

M: I see that two society but it's not here in America.

S: So where do you want to put them? Aftica is overpopulated and the only place that happens not to be populated is in the North. Now where do you plan to put them? Exterminate them?

M: Let's put it this way. When we come to power we'll decide that question on the basis of our power. The important thing is that we've come to the realization that they're not going to be in

M: I don't recall this particular conversation but like I said the whole Jewish nature is dominated by the egoistic attitude. That accounts for their unscrupulous behavior in the economic sphere. That accounts for their perverse social behavior, be it sexual or otherwise. They are simply a very ego minded people, very self interested. They have none of the idealistic urges that dominate your Aryan people. So biologically they're the opposite of the Aryan people. S: What are your idealistic urges?
M: Love of land, high regard for environment...

S: And the Jews in Israel aren't trying to fight for the love of their land. Let's face it, let's be frank, the Jews never really had land of their own.

just propaganda.

S: The lews are unproductive people? S: The Jews are unproductive people?

M: Exactly.

S: OK. Then how do you account for 5 percent or 4 percent of the population of the United States being in charge of broadcasting companies running Hollywood, California and other businesses, retail businesses in this country. The clothing business, much of the food business. If they were unproductive how do you account for this?

M: The lews aren't productive, they're parasitical in their nature. They're simply living off the productive forces of the other races in America. The fact that they're able to rise to the top is an indication of the nature of the capitalist-descent.

S: Someone better tell him that.

M: That's neither here nor there. The important thing is that when you're talking about the banking system you have a feudal system with the powerful banks at the top and your less powerful banks at the bottom and at the top of course you have the Federal Reserve and below them you have your Wall Street banks and below them you have another layer of banks, but your top banks be it your Federal Reserve or be it your Wall Street banks are in the hands entirely of the lews.

Transcript Of Interview With Nazi Sympathizer

from Newsweek magazine. We talked about concentration camps before, that there were no such things, at least no holocaust. A quote from Joseph Goeb bel's diary. "The Jews are re-emerging," he warns in March. "Anyone in he warns in March. "Anyone in a position to do so should kill off Jews like rats. In Germany thank God we already have done a fairly complete job. I trust that the world will take this cue from this." Now, you claim that they didn't kill Jews except one of Hitler's top five assistants in this article claims that they assistants in this article claims that they did. Where did they kill them?

M: OK. You see that's a little misleading. Obviously the quote is correct but what's misleading is the fact that what happened to the Jews in Germany. That's what's misleading. Before the National Socialists came to Before the National Socialists came to power there were approximately 400,000 Jews in Germany. By the time the war had started the majority of those Jews had emigrated to the United States. Albert Einstein is a good example of a characteristic of a German Jew coming to the United States. They were not exterminated, they emigrated. Germany did take steps to eliminate its Jewish population. They encouraged emigration. And that's exactly what we will do when we come to power. We will encourage emigration.

5: Your saying approximately 6 million Jews fled Germany for the United States?

M: There were no 6 million Jews in Germany, there were 400,000 Jews in ermany. S: Four hundred thousand Jews in

S: Then how did a bunch of 400,000 dity-lews come to an economic plateau that they did? And Hitler had to get rid of them. How did that ever happen? Four hundred thousand measly little people that are inferior to the Aryans.

ow did that ever occur?

M: Well, like I said we have a syste Mai. Well, like I said we have a system that the Jews are able to thrive in. A system where they're able to leech on to the productive forces of the nation and rise to positions of leadership. Not out of their own endeavors, not because they're especially productive. To the contrary, because they're paracites.

especially productive. To the contrary, because they're parasites.

S: I'd like to get on the subjects of blacks once again and the frontal lobe and all that stuff. I don't know where you got that information that they're inferior but we'll take it for what it's worth. I just like to know how you account for their physical superiority?

We'll be in power in 15 years or we won't be at all.

M: How are they physically superior?
S: Ah well 60 percent of the starting lineup in the basketball teams in the United States, 50 percent of football and 40 percent of baseball. Now I'd say that's physically superior, at least in the pro mecca. I mean that shows. Wouldn't you

M: The colored people have the physical attributes, no one is going to deny that. I would take exception to the claim that they're physically superior.

They have different attributes. In certain sports on the other hand Aryan people dominate almost entirely. Swimming is a

S: Mark Spitz is an Aryan?

M: No. He's an exception.

S: He's an exception to the rule. OK. But let's go on to this. You don't think that they re physically superior?

M: No, I don't have also for any

S: Do you have any physical evidence of that?
M: I have to say no.

S: So it's your own personal opinion?

M: Right.
S: A professor on this campus, and I don't demean you, I'm not here to demean your organization at all. Before I get into this I want to ask you one question. When exactly do you think the National Socialists White People's Party is going to become a majority? And when do you want to get into office and when do you think you'll be able to get into office?

M: We'll be in power in 15 years or we

S: All right and what's going to happen after 15 years? Are you just going to die out?

M: Well, if the National Socialism party doesn't come to power in the United States or a facsimile thereof the country will deteriorate racially. It will country will deteriorate racially. It will break up.

S: Is it going to blow up?

M: It's just going to break up.

S: How's it going to break up? With nitro glycerin?

M: Are you familiar with the New York Situation? New York City.

S: With the economic situation?

S: I'm very familiar with that.

S: I'm very familiar with that.

M: Basically what you have in New York City is a productive minority supporting a non-productive majority to such an extent that the city is beginning to collapse. And the only way it can maintain itself, its social services, its welfare payments, its police force, its fire welfare payments, its police force, its fire force etc. is to drag in millions and millions and millions of dollars from the federal government. Now what happens when the productive especity of the United States deterioriates to the extent that we're not able to provide that ald to New York City? New York City will collapse. All the cities in the United States that face similar situations...

States that face similar situations.

S: So it's like a domino?

M: Exactly, the country will collapse, because the non-productive people are reproducing at such enormous rates and the productive Aryan population is barely reproducing enough to maintain itself. Consequently what you have developing is a highly unstable situation.

S: You think its Abe Beame's fault?

M: To a certain extent, because first of all multiplying the problems of the fact that you have so many non-whites to begin with is you have a very corrupt administration due the fact that you have so many Jews involved.

S: Those damn Jews did it again.
M: Oh, most definitely.
S: I'd like to get on the subject of a professor on this campus who is considered an Aryan biologically. I'm not going to give his name out but he is a professor of political science, very prominent and has been an advisor to four presidents. He's from Hungary. Is that considered geographically Aryan?
M: He could be, he could not be.
S: He has gray hair, I couldn't tell. Anyway he said about your organization and this is not from me that I asked him about the Nazi party in Arlington Virginia and he said—how many members are there in your group? Oh you couldn't tell me—he didn't know the numbers but he approximately said that you are a group of 200 American Nazis and you're a bunch of punks with guns. Now are you a violent order? Is this man wrong?

M. Yes I would ass you wrong?

M: Yes I would say so.
S: Do you subscribe to any violence at all, as the organization out in Skokie

M: I have to answer that in an honest manner and that's the following. We do not subscribe to violence. However, we do believe in coming to power in this country and should the situation deteri-orate to such an extent that the white

obviously we're going to support said

S: Let me put it this way. I called the S: Let me put it this way. I called the Defense Department for some information and I said I was going to interview someone from the American Nazi Party and they said "Oh my God" and they cringed when they heard I was going to interview a Nazi. Why is there such apathy to Nazis when you're planning to take over the country within 15 years? Is it Jewish propaganda that did it all?

M: It's a combination of three factors.

It's stupidity with regard to what stand for and with regard to what they stand for. It's cowardice on the part of people who know better but they're afraid to assert themselves and its also a question of a perverted value system and in this case I'm talking about liberalism in general. Universal brotherhood. Christianity is simply a part of the liberal world outlook. Universal brotherhood of world outlook. Universal brotherhood of pacifism. So those are the three factors which enter into it.

S: I'd like to ask you if a coalition of white people in this country, and semi-white people and Jews and blacks formed a coalition to run your organization out of the country, how would you feel?

M: If they feel that's the way to combat us that's their decision, but they can't expect us to simply acquiesce.

S: How would it feel to be felt unwanted?

photo by Scott Lampe

present situation. But that does not reflect what we are going to be in the future because as the racial conditions in future because as the racial conditions in this country deteriorate more and more white people are going to be driven to the extremes and when this happens we are going to appear like moderates and they will be turning to us as a viable political alternative. Same thing happened in Germany. When conditions deteriorated to such an extent people were looking for a solution they were thred of listening to the ramblings of the democratic politicians. So they are going to be looking for someone who has some viable solutions and they will be looking for us. We will be looking for us. We will be looking for us. We will be come a very popular organization become a very popular organization within a short period of time in this

S: And what's that going to be through, public relations firms?

M: Well, it will be through our

M: Well, It will be through our propaganda.
S: I'd like to ask you one last question.
Could you tell an Aryan from a Jew?
M: By and large yes.
S: I just want to do a little experiment.

Danny could you come in here please and Neal. Now this is Neal and this Danny. Could you tell his nationality from his nationality?

from his nationality?

M: By and large I think so.

S: OK go ahead.

M: I would say this gentleman over here is part Jewish. (Looking at Neal)

S: How could you tell?

M: By his eyes.
S: His eyes are blue.
M: Yeah but...

M: True but that's only a superficial racial characteristic. There are other characteristics that come into play. I would say its partially so and not so entirely.

S: How could you tell, I was interested.

M: The shape of the eyes.
S: And Danny over here. Could he pass for a Puerto Rican?

me. It's hard to see from this angle but basically.

S: Well Danny was Bar Mitzvahed some 10 years ago. But you know we all make mistakes.

Students Polled Feel Board Should Have Shown Interview

of a survey of 455 GW students by Jordan W. Dentscheff, who asked to determine his findings.

by Jordan W. Dentscheff
Hatchet Staff Writer

Over 75 percent of GW students surveyed indicated that they disagreed with the Program Board's decision not to show the taped interview with Harold Mantius, the national organizer of the National Socialist White People's Party.

Approximately 51 per cent of those surveyed indicated they would have made an effort to view the film had there been no controversy. When asked if they would now want to see the interview, 61 per cent of the students surveyed indicated they

Of the students surveyed, 57 percent said they believed an effort should be made to have the film aired, indicating that those who are interested should be allowed to see the interview. Of those students, several said that they themselves "would not make the effort" to see

Those who indicated they thought efforts should not be made to have the film aired did so because "the issue is too emotional right now," said one student. "The decision-is better left alone and. . .better left to die," the student said.

The survey was conducted last week in a number of GW buildings week in a number of GW buildings and dormitories.

When asked if they felt that threats made in connection with the showing of the interview are justifiable, over 87 percent of the students responded negatively.

Students indicated they thought the Nazis as a political party have a right to air their views in public and generally based their responses on the United States Constitution.

Survey Results

The second second	YES	NO *	NOT SURE
Do you agree with this decision (not to show the film)?	23.5%	71.3%	6%
Do you feel that the threats of violence made in con- nection with the showing of the film are justifiable?		87.4	2.6
Would you see the film?	60.6	35.6	3.7
Do you consider the American Nazi Party a significant political force in American politics to- day?	6.1	91.8	1.9

When asked if the Nazis had this right, one student who wished to remain unidentified responded, "Constitutionally, yes ... but moral-

When asked if they believed an When asked if they believed an American political party should have the Constitutional right to base its political platform on racism, 46 percent of those surveyed indicated a positive response.

Over 64 percent of students interviewed indicated they felt personally offended the the Nazi party and its ideologies.

When questioned about personal reaction to what they had heard concerning the Nazi party, over 88 percent said they were totally against its philosophies. Only 1 percent of those surveyed indicated their reaction to the American Nazi party and its philosophies as being totally supportive of its ideologies.

About 2 percent of those GW students surveyed indicated that they advocate racism as a political

Students Plan To Travel, Study Over Break

What, are GW students planning to do over the spring break? Plans for the week long vacation range from extensive traveling to "just sleeping and eating."

The most popular vacation plan of those interviewed seems to be traveling. The majority of those traveling are heading toward sunny Florida while Philadelphia, New York and Boston seem to be other popular choices.

Those who are not as fucky or who have a lack of funds will be heading home or seeking a job for summer vacation. "I just realized that I'll need some money this summer so I decided to go home and look for a job," said one struken."

one student.

One Thurston Hall resident who said she likes to stay busy, plans to go to Boston to look for a job, then go to New Jersey for a day and a half, fly from there to St. Louis then take a train from there to Chicago where she will be joining some friends from GW. They all plan to drive back to Washington together.

said.

Another student said she hadn't made any definite plans yet but she plans to go up to New York for a weekend. "My goal is to get into Studio 54," she said. Studio 54 is one of New York's better known discos and allows only the most elite inside its doors.

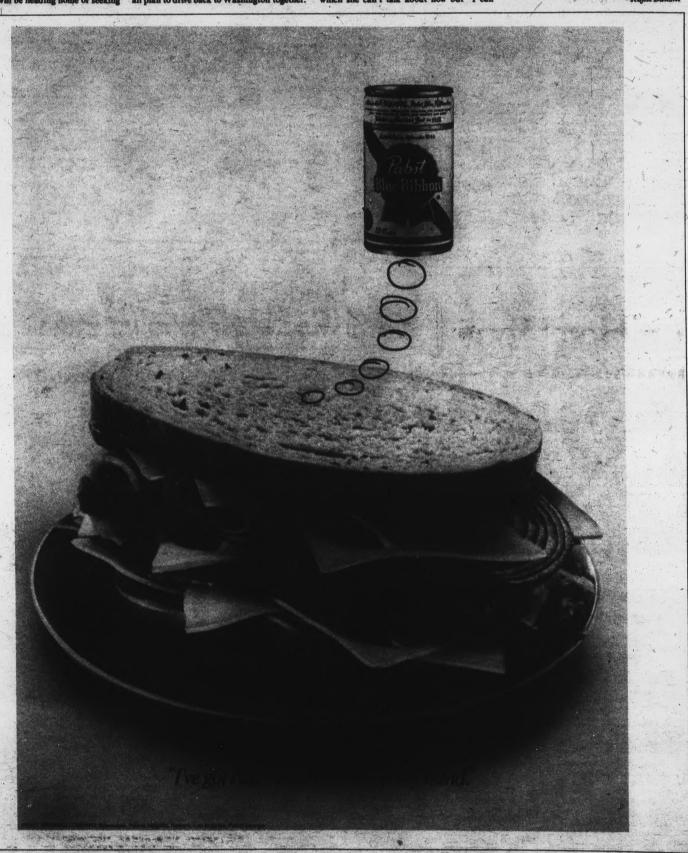

Another student who is staying home said she plans to do "lots of outrageous things," which she can't talk about now but "I can tell you about it when I come back."

Not all students however are traveling and planning to do "lots of outrageous things."

One student said "I am just planning to go to the GW library." Other students are planning to stay in town and prepare for midterms and to say the say of the

TEACHING POSITIONS

The Navy Nuclear Power School has immediate openings in Orlando, Florida, for persons desiring teaching positions in MATHEMATICS, PHYSICS, ENGINEERING, and CHEMISTRY.

Qualified individuals will be offered a four year contact with excellent salary and benefits. A B. S. or Masters degree is preferred. Interested persons should contact or write to: JOHN LEGGETT. PRESIDENTIAL BLDG. SUITE 301 HYATTSVILLE, MD. 20782 TEL. 301-436-2072

George Washington University's
For those who are staying the weekend E. O. P. B.C. & PROGRAM BOARD

The EARLY BREAK

D.C.'s NEW RECORDING STARS

FRIDAY MARCH

Everyone is invited

$3 admission includes:

free beer, soda

TICKETS AVAILABLE AT THE MARVINGENTER - INFO DESK

hat's a very special rate, Thursday through Sunday, double occupancy, for University guests only.

The perfect suggestion to make when your parents are making plans to

And we'll do more than put them up for the night.

We've got a fine restaurant, live entertainment for dancing if they're so inclined, and the coziest, quietest, most intimate cocktail lounge you've ever seen. All right across Key Bridge from Georgetown.

If this sounds like the kind of arrangement you and your parents could live with, give us (703) 841-9595. a call at

ARLINGTON HYATT HOUSE 1325 Wilson Boulevard, Rosslyn, Virginia.

AT THE FOLLOWING BIG DADDY'S LOUNGES

PENSACOLA

JACKSONVILLE Arlington Exp. & Southside Blvd.

ORLANDO (Casselberry) -Hwy. 436 just off 1792

WEST PALM BEACH "Big O" 2801 Okeechobee Blvd.

FT. LAUD. "Brother Jims" East Commerical Blvd.

"747" Lounge Miami Springs KEY WEST DAYTONA Big Daddy's "Beachside"

ASK ABOUT OUR FREE T SHIRT PROMOTION

Lighted ACTION DISCO

Outrageous Dance Floor Beautiful People Light Show ACTION

'Gents' A Mighty Good Production

If it is possible for a playwright to provide an accurate portrait of any lifestyle, even life in the ghetto, then Richard Wesley, the first Black American writer to have his play performed at the Kennedy Center, has done so with The Mighty Gents.

It can be argued that no dramatist can portray an entire way of life for hundreds of thousands of people with only a few hours of dialogue, a company of actors and a stage. But Wesley has successfully captured and revealed not only ghetto life, but the human spirit that abides there.

The Mighty Gents, which opened Tuesday night for a five week pre-Broadway run at the Eisenhower Theater, focuses on the remnants of a sixtles street gang. The gang's members, those few who have survived the years of street fighting and drug abuse in the ghetto, look back to the only time in their lives that had any real meaning to them, when the Newark, N.J., ghetto was their "turf."

In a fine performance by Morgan Freeman, Zeke, a character ignored for most of the two-hour long play, suddenly becomes important in a way that no one could guess Freeman is frightening as the old drunk and poignant as a prophet of seated in the theater, and the human race at large that sits back and watches what goes on in ghettos with an unrealistic detachme being responsible for the problems that exist in American cities.

Rollins ended his moving stage soliloquy with the disclaimer that he was only on the stage to entertain, not to awaken the audience to reality. He left the audience wondering; was he only acting?

A notable fact of The Mighty [Gents is the spectacular, fog enshrouded set designed by Tony Award winner Santo Loquasto, who constructed the scenery for the American Ballet Theatre presentation of Don Quioxte.

An eyepleasing structure, the surrealistic set in Gents is a street scene in a Newark ghetto. Eerie lighting techniques and haunting sound effects enhance the effect of mystery as the fog rolls across the stage. It establishes the mood for the stage. It establishes the mood for the audience on their first step of a realistic and poignant journey through an American tragedy. It was apparent that the cast was accustomed to a smaller stage and a smaller audience, for some of their voices failed to carry and many touching dialogues and soliloquys were dampened by a mumbled word here and there. This loss of true sense of the word. Morbid at times, Gents has a streak of ironic humor that the audience cannot deny, many of them not knowing whether to laugh or cry. Many did predominantly white, middle class audience at the Eisenhower Theater gave a standing ovation to Gents, a play concerning the triumph and tragedy of a ghetto street gang, a social phenomena one assumes most

It is a tribute to Wesley's talents as a playwright that the audience understood that Gents is not praising street violence, but is rather showing the audience what it might otherwise never see—a realistic portrait of ghetto life in America.

'Fortune's' Weak Performances Cannot Arrest Its Moral Tone

by Teresita Ferrera
"Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness..." those are our rights according to the Constitution. For the most part, the opportunity never arises to question those rights. But what of the prisoner locked up in a cell with many of his rights forfeited?

Fortune and Men's Eyes, a play presented at Lisner Auditorium March 2-4, exposed the difficulties men face when sentenced to prison. The play was written by John Herbert, whose personal experience in prison helps the dialogue reach its high degree of poignancy. Fortune tells the story of how prison life affects a naive young convict. Through a slow series of developments and interactions with the other immates, the rather weak new prisoner, called "Smitty," gradually becomes hardened and more domineering. In the end, he finally gets command of the prison gang.

Although the play's dialogue was very impressive, the acting was weak and, at times, trite. Because of this lack of intensity, the play was unable to achieve its full

The actors seemed to lose touch with their characters during the first two scenes with the exception of Hamilton Powell, who portrayed Holy Face, one of the wardens. Powell did a superb job maintaining Face's staunch apathetic appearance throughout, giving the play's best performance.

The only other successful character was Queenie, portrayed by Ed Metz. Although his performance as a homosexual was a bit overdone, he did manage to evoke Still, regardless of the dull acting, the play did evoke the harshness and violence found in prisons. Even the guards were portrayed as uncaring and often enjoying the kind of sadism employed by the prisoners.

Fortune And Men's Eyes is the first of a series revealing the problems of penal systems, entitled You and the Criminal Injustice System. The series will be presented intermittantly through March at various GW locations.

Sheater

things to come, portraying these many facets of Zeke with equal excellence

Howard E. Rollins, portraying a small time hood, pimp and drug dealer, directed some stinging re-marks toward the "innocence" of communication and intimacy with the audience contributed to Gents being less of a success than it could

While Gents has been compared to West Side Story, it is hardly in that class, and it is debatable whether it is even a musical in the

Tireless Acting Keeps 'Coma's' Plot Awake

If there is one thing which MGM's Coma succeeds in accomplishing, it is to make a hospital ore terrifying than it really What makes the movie so direction or fabulous acting performances, but its rather acute way of playing off the primal fears and illusions we all have about hospitals. Coma is too jumpy a movie to be a total joy, and as such, most of what could have been a good thing just and a weak screenplay, both by Michael Crichton, Crichton, author of the novels The Andromeda Strain and The Great Train Robbery among others, seems confused, and iggish direction accents his limited directorial skills.

Though the story line is followed fairly well, it is the lack of imagination during particular scenes that fails to gel the plot.

The movie concerns a doctor's discovery of a group of physicians who purposely put people into comas to extract their organs for comas to extract their organs for bidding purposes on the black market.

During one scene, when Dr. Susan Wheeler (Genevieve Bujold) is running down a hallway in order to escape a killer, Crichton chooses to escape a killer, Crichton chooses to film the sequence using various cameras at different angles, the reasoning, one supposes, to add a margin of anxiety and tension to the film. The scene, however, becomes too contrived and one becomes immersed not in the pace of the story, but in Bujold's exact movements and their consequences. In essence, we wonder whether or not he will bump or trip over one of the

The rest of Crichton's direction can at best be deemed plausible. He has yet to develop a distinctive, directing style, even though his previous directing role in Westworld was interesting. It is not that his style is sloppy—certainly the tension does heighten during the final operation sequence. Rather, it is a problem of developing a more individualistic approach.

Coma's real strengths, though, lie to evoke a veiled aura of evil about him. During his confrontation with Bujold, Torn, using his sharp and tight voice, delivers his lines so curtly and methodically that he leaves no doubt as to his sinister

Still, the most convincing performance belongs to Widmark, who portrays the chief surgeon of the hospital, and who is the prime

linema

in the quality of its acting performances, particularly in the supporting roles. Though much has been said about Bujold's performance, it failed to live up to its expectations. Her role as the young and confused intern was interesting, but it took the Jast third of the film to really er potentials, which even then show her potentials, which even then didn't seem too spectacular.

The most effective performances were by Rip Torn and Richard Widmark, both whom portray villains in the movie. Torn, who portrays the head anesthetist of the Boston hospital (and who is the conspirator in the coma plot. His fatherly appeal and the cautious tone of his speeches are both absorbing and sly. His manner and cool professionalism easily outweigh any of the other performances.

Surprisingly, though, Coma is able to maintain your interest, even considering its rather amateurish direction. However, it does little to reinforce one's confidence in hospitals, which one supposes never was that high in the first place.

Now, where's the AMA when you really need it?

Sea Level Stays Afloat On A Wave Of Sound

If Sea Level is the vanguard of a new musical sound coming from America's South, the listening public should be prepared for a gradual but progressive change from the blues-based boogie which has traditionally typified non-country Southern music. A couple of examples of the blues-based boogie bands would have to include Wet Willie, Elvin Bishop and the Outlaws.

Performing Sunday night at the Warner Theater, Sea Level's high quality of musicianship was most impressive. Featuring ex-Allman Brothers Band keyboardist Chuck Leavell on vocals, percussion, acoustic and electric pianos and organ, the band presented material which could best be characterized as improvisational jazz.

vell beat out percussion polyrhythms cated. His choice of notes, which with his left hand while picking out created a very funky and almost Far unbelievably fast and precise notes on the organ with his right, a capability few keyboard players

Featuring tunes from their new album, Cats On The Coast; Sea Level aptly demonstrated that high volume and repeated guitar chords combined with gut-wrenching bass and percussion is not the only way to get an audience on its feet.

Jimmy Nalls, a local guitarist from Virginia who previously toured with the likes of Dr. John, plays with a style which is a cross between the contemporary jazz-infused lead picking of Jeff Beck and the Southern flavored rhythm lines of the Marshall Tucker Bands' Toy Caldwell, His slide work, however, is still limited due to his lack of created a very funky and almost Far Eastern sound, was similar in feel to the famed King Curtis and to the precision of Ronnie Laws.

The highlight of the set was Sea Level's live rendition of "Cat's On The Coast," an instrumental which features intense trade-off between Bramlett's passionate sax playing and the closely clustered, high-speed notes rippling from Leavell's fingers while the rhythm section cooks along in the background with a fire-hot intensity.

The audience's favorite, however was their rendition of a song immortalized by the Allman Bro-thers, Willie McTell's "Statesboro Blues," which featured the inclusion of the Outlaws' pedal steel and electric guitarist's superb slide work, which was vaguely reminiscent of the late Duane Allman's slide guitar style.

Opening with the breezy, effervescent piano and rich lead vocals of Chuck Leavell, the song flowed to a climax which cascaded from the guitars of Nalls and Hughie Thom-

The Outlaws, which preceded Sea Level, unfortunately possess none of Sea Level's musical ability. Performing songs such as "Prison," which has a pronounced flavor of the Sea level, which appeared at the Warner Theater Sunday evening, has recently released a live album, Cats On The Coast.

album, the Outlaws high volume sound and tedious, repetitive countrified guitar boogie became

High Tides," however, was quite a crowd pleaser due to the intensity it generated and the reaction of the audience which consisted mainly of quite boring. teenage girls in tight Their encore, "Green Grass and cowboy boots and hats. teenage girls in tight skirts and

usic

Leavell, rated as one of today's best jazz and rock pianists by the readers of Contemporary Keyboard magazine, consistently proved why precision and clarity. Alto and soprano saxophonist Randall Bramblett, who said he was his recognition was justly received. On "That's Your Secret," a highly influenced by the windwork on Miles Davis' Bitches Brew LP, a straight improvisational piece, Leawas amazingly clear and sophisti-

The Rutles, after releasing a new anthology album, will be the subjects of an NBC special to be aired March 22.

Pre-Fab Four Release Anthology As Rutlemania Is Remembered

It seems hard to believe that it has been 15 years since the Rutles came out of Liverpool, set foot in the United States, and changed the course of music forever. Admidst the stagnation and apathy of the late Seventies, the very idea of the phenomena which was Rutlemania is incomprehensible.

But from their first appearances on the Ed Sullivan Show, we took Stig O'Hara, Ron Nasty, Dirk McQuickley and Barry Wom to our hearts and never let go, even when the group disintegrated after 1970's Let It Rot and they went their separate ways. So it is especially refreshing to hear that NBC will be presenting a special on them entitled "All You Need Is Cash," Wednesday, March 22 (WRC-TV, Channel 4, 9:30 p.m.).

It is even more encouraging to hear that Warner Brothers Records conspired with Rutles Records to produce The Rutles, a one record set containing all of the pre-fab four's greatest hits. Everyone is familiar with these songs, but in the perspective of eight years since the group's demise, it is worth taking an indepth look at the music which created a legend that, as one biographer put it, "will live a lunchtime."

"Hold My Hand" leads off the set, a song which sums up the Rutle's entire career. Who can forget swooning to those famous lyrics, "please, please hold my hand...yeah, yeah," when the four moptops appeared on the Sullivan

"With A Girl Like You" established Dirk McQuickley's reputation as a balladeer, a reputation lately in disrepute because of the Rutle's conversion to punk music. The song was also a highlight of the group's first movie, A Hard Day's Rut, as was the album's next cut, "I Must Be In Love," sung with great gusto by drummer Barry Wom.

Rutle's second OUCH, is represented on the album by its title track. For many now college-age persons, this was our first introduction to the Rutles; it seemed like everyone sang "OUCH" throughout the second grade.

But the group, led by Nasty and O'Hara, was headed toward mysticism, spurred by the Rutles' discovery of the hallucenogenic effects of tea and O'Hara's fascination with Ouija boards.

This is evidenced by the psychede-ic "Love Life" and O'Hara's 'Nevertheless." The two songs also showed the Rutles turning towards new instruments: the horns on "Love Life" and the sitar on "Nevertheless."

As "Nevertheless" closes out side one, however, it shows the Rutles at a turning point. Their notoriety made everything they said and did subject to analysis and criticism. especially Nasty's insinuation that the group was now bigger and more important than Rod Stewart, who at the time was working at a bar in Scotland. It took the Rutle's next release to silence the people all overthe world who were burning the group's albums to protest Nasty's statement.

Sergeant Rutter's Only Darts Club Band is the Rutle's crowning achievement, nominations for Shabby Road not withstanding. Times Roll" has stood well the test of time, with its references to cotton woolclouds and swastika nighting-gales. Similarly, "Doubleback Al-ley," McQuickley's contribution to the tea-inspired genre, spews forth images of Father O'Malley and Saccharine Sally:

With maturation, and under the firm hand of business manager Ron Decline, the Rutles turned out some of their most idiosyneratic work. Nasty's "Cheese and Onions" is a classic in his large number of self-pity songs. Who could reject his plea for world peace, especially when he shouts: "Do I have to spell it out? C-h-e-e-s-e a-n-d o-n-i-o-n-s ONO!" And in "Piggy/ In The Middle," Nasty paints his most poignant lyrical picture to date: "Hey diddle diddle, the cat and the fiddle, piggy in the middle, Do a pooh pooh.

It is truly an awesome body of music, definitely worthy of repeated listenings. It reminds us that without the Rutles, the world would be so much different.

Want evidence? Printed in the album's lavish innersleeve is an interview with Paul Simon, done for All You Need Is Cash. Asked if the Rutles had any effect on his work, the candid Simon answers: "No."

Carradine More Than 'Easy' During His Cellar Door Show

by Carole Sugarman

Keith Carradine may have been 'Easy' in Nashville but he's hard hitting and alive in D.C. Performing at the Cellar Door Monday night, Carradine showed he has fully recovered from his claim-to-fame hit "I'm Easy," making the diversity of his songs the highlight of the Altering his easy-rock image, Carradine made an obvious but successful effort to pick and choose different styles. Most of the songs he performed came from his new album, Lost and Found whose songs range from Tom Wait's bluesy "San Diego Serenade" to an old Beatles tune called "Rain."

Carradine also included some playful cuts, most notably his noisy "Neutron Bomb" rock ballad and "Love of the Blues," a blues piece about the jet-lag sag of musical touring.

Carradine's distinctive voice ably carried all the moods, but it was on the Tom Waits song and on his own compositions that the singer and audience were most captivated. Though his band did not perform any surprise jams or instrumental interludes, they were tight enough to enhance Carradine's vocal abilities. And even though Carradine's instrumental abilities were limited to the acoustic and electric guitar and piano, he nevertheless added a nice punch to the music.

Successful as both a singer and actor, Carradine's fame in the movie Nashville as a country-western Romeo was recently followed by his performance in the film "Welcome to L.A." The Carradine family has been around-Keith's father John is a noted actor as well as brother

David, star of the past "Kung Fu"

Despite Keith's lothario movie image and seemingly sexy album covers, the youngest Carradine isn't bolsterous or crude. His songs, as well as his personality, can be mellow, fun and loud, and certainly likable

LeBlanc and Carr, the concert's warm up group, was a little more difficult to like. Although the six-piece band was indeed very tight, its standard rock 'n' roll repertoire was trite and ordinary. It was not that the music sounded bad—it had a smooth catchy beat. But songs such as "How Does It Feel To Be In Love?" and "I Believe That We" sounded as worn as their titles.

If LeBlane and Carr could quickly learn some of Keith Carradine's new diversity, it could hopefully escape being just another rock 'n' roll

The Winner: Students

Cesar Negrette may have won the GWUSA presidency, but GW students may prove to be the biggest winners of all. Because, although voting turnouts in the joint elections last week and the runoff Tuesday might not have been as large as possible, they showed a definite improvement over previous

This has not been a good year for GWUSA. Students could have been expected to refuse to vote in this year's election out of sheer disenchantment with the student government's inability to tackle important issues.

But they chose not to take that route. Instead, they sent a clear message to GWUSA and the administration. They said there were issues that are important to them. They said they wanted representatives that would work for them. And last, we believe they said it's time for the administration to take the students seriously.

Negrette has his mandate, and so does executive vice president Bob Dolan. We wish them luck as they take on the challenge of rebuilding GWUSA and making it an important force at this University.

But remember this: Students' responsibility does not end at the polls. It's up to the students to get behind Negrette and Dolan and make GWUSA work.

Final GWUSA Note

All circus fans at GW probably remember elections last year. Although the 1977 GWUSA elections were fairly well-run, the first GWUSA elections were a mess, a later referendum was successfully appealed and the Program Board/Governing Board elections were so butchered that it took the University's highest appeals board short of the Board of Trustess to straighten it out.

With that in mind, much credit is due the people who engineered this year's joint elections and GWUSA runoff. This was the first attempt for joint elections and it worked beautifully, thanks to the work of Ben Bolusky, Mike Joblove and Terri Stone.

Moves like using the voting machines were excellent. More importantly, the group's integrity filtered down to the candidates, who ran a very clean campaign all the way through the runoff.

Election officials generally get noticed only when something goes wrong, but each groups's committee, and especially the joint elections unit, deserve a special thanks this year for helping to add some legitimacy to next year's student government.

Disgust

We found nothing credible in the words of Harold Mantius, organizer for the National Socialist White People's party. There was one theme he stressed, however, that stuck out in our minds.

The nation, he said, would turn to those who think as he does when racial divisiveness and economic problems hit hardest. Racists like himself, though, are not going to stand up and overthrow the country. They're going to try to take advantage of society's intrinsic flaws.

Disgust for Mantius and for his stand should be great inspiration to create the kind of society and brotherhood where those who think his way will remain an insignificant and unattractive minority, and ideas such as his will be condemned by all.

Larry Olmstead, editor-in-chief

Charles Barthold, news editor Charles Barthold, news editor
Maryann Haggerty, news editor
Jeff Levey, arts editor
Peter Safirstein, ed. page editor
Barty Grossman, photo editor
Martin Silverman, assoc. photo editor
Lori Traikos, assoc. photo editor
Josh Kaufmann, aports editor
Wayne Countryman, associate editor
Anne Krueger, associate editor assistant editory Stephanie Heacox, news.
Steve Romanelli, arts
Felix Winternitz, arts
Robert Montanari, editorial page
Michael Latil, photo
David Drake, sports
John Cushlanis, copy
Charlotte Garvey, copy harlotte Garvey, copy Stuart Ollanik, copy Noah B. Rice, co

Camille Grosdidier

Profs Need Closer Scrutiny

What can you do when you get stuck with an incompetent teacher? Little usually, except boil silently at the idea of the amount of time and money you are wasting. If the teacher cannot see you, you might try reading a book in class to make up for lost time. You could go complain to the head of the department (if he is not the teacher himself), or to your dean. But usually, you are too intimidated to do so or maybe afraid of receivals if the teacher finds out about you, or afraid reprisals if the teacher finds out about you, or afraid that you will be told somewhat dryly that "you are the first person to ever complain about this teacher".

If you make it to the dean's office or to the head of It you make it to the dean's office or to the head of the department, you will, at best, find a sympathetic ear that will listen to you patiently and then confide that there is little one can do except maybe take another course. Too bad if the poor course is required for your

Although most teachers are dedicated and competent persons, there are some who should never be allowed to enter a classroom. Not because they are ignorant or unintelligent, but because they just do not perform their duties.

Their courses are either exceedingly easy or difficult.

And students do not learn enough. Furthermore these teachers spent 90 percent of their time telling funny, but irrelevant, anecdotes—how they once locked up their cat in their microwave oven, or had their blonde wife mistaken for a Circassian during a trip to Egypt

They are also the ones who are out of the classroom too often, who don't always bother to show up when they have a guest lecturer and leave to go skiing or to give lectures elsewhere.

Finally, this group has too many guest lecturers, and spends much of their time listening to others do their job. Too many of these guest lecturers are poorly briefed as to the level of knowledge of the class and end up discussing generalities for fear of being incomprehensible. I believe each University department should institute mandatory evaluations for all their courses. These evaluations should not be limited to full-time teachers, but also include part-time lecturers.

Departmental evaluations protect teachers against bitter or irresponsible students and help students by insuring that incompetent teachers will not be re-hired. Furthermore, these evaluations will allow the university to strengthen weak courses, augment the quality of its education, and gain a good reputation.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY

Marion Deegan

Trampling Chaplin's Dignity

in a little Swiss cemetery surrounded by cypress trees. Even in death, the comic genius belonged to the world, for this cemetery did not lock its gates, not even at night.

It was also at night, authorities believe, that vandals came and stole Charlie Chaplin's body away. What can be said about a thing like that? We can react with horror, surprise certainly. I even heard some people laughing. I would like to hope it was nervous laughter, heard and the couldn't tell. but I really couldn't tell.

There has been much speculation on the motive. Since Charlie Chaplin left a multimillion dollar estate, Since Charlie Chaplin left a multimillion dollar estate, the most obvious is ransom, with the coffin as the vehicle to the riches. But with several days gone by and no word from the thieves, other theories have grown.

One blames neo-Nazis retaliating against Chaplin's 1940 satire of Hitler, "The Great Dictator." A sunnier but no less pathetic thought pins the theft on "fanatic fans" who were compelled by love, not hate. Who is to say? And what is to be done with Charlie Chaplin, now that they have him? Only the thieves know for sure, and theore are talking.

they're not talking.

Charlie Chaplin once said he was for the little man, and indeed, the sturdy Little Tramp with the dark moustache championed that part of all of us. He was constantly finding himself in trouble, and from these situations the empathetic humor which became his trademark evolved. A comeback was always inevitable, and it was always dignified. "No matter how desperate the situation," Chaplin once said, "I am always very much in earnest about clutching my cane, straightening my derby hat, fixing my tie, even though I have just landed on my head."

In the domain of comedy, where it is all too easy to confuse being cruel with being funny, the triumph of the human spirit as embodied in Charlie Chaplin is nothing short of noble.

Now vandals have written another script and true to Now vandals have written another script and true to style, the Little Tramp is indeed in a desperate predicament once again. But any similarities end there, for this story holds the frightening, and in Chaplin's stories, unprecedented potential for doing a great injustice to the noble spirit of humanity. This time, our hero is totally helpless, and this time, the dignified comeback is not inevitable.

It is up to those who took Charlie Chaplin away to determine how the story will end. As one of many to whom it matters, let's hope the crime is resolved in a way that will leave the baggy pants dusted and the derby hat straight.

Cartoonists, Columnists Needed

Call Peter Safirstein at x7550

Quote Of The Week

"Students are straight and narrow here [compared] with, say, NYU which is on the edge of Greenwich Village, and this is no Berkeley by a long shot. Our students are just not as involved with the problems that are supposed to confront today's youth."

ofessor Stephens (Sociology) The Hatchet April 25, 1967

Unclassified Ads

WANTED: Clerk/Typist sec. for busy office part time—A.M. or P.M. Heavy typing, answering telephone, acreening calls, general office duties. Minimum of 65 WPM. Beginning rate of $3.75/hr. Contact Nancy at 296-8344.

COSPEL EXTRAVAGANZA. Admission free, Friday, March 10, 1978.
Marvin Center, 3rd floor ballroom.
Sponsored by BPU.

PART TIME Mail clerk/typist-Must r'ART TIME Mail clerk/typist—Must be able to work three afternoons from 1:00 PM to 5:00 PM. The bulk of the job is mail room work, packaging, stuffing, addressing, postage, etc. 45 WPM typing and a pleasant manner for helping out with the phones are required. Call: 833-9300, Personnel, The American Film Institute, BOE.

EUROPE " CAR RENT or BUY LOWEST PRICES

EUROPE BY CAR 45 Rockefeller Plaza New York, N.Y. 10020 Phone (212) 581-3040

Mail this ad for Special Student/Teacher Tariff. ☐ RENTAL ☐ LEASE ☐ PURCHASE

9. W.U. Book Store Spring Break Hours 8:45 to 5:00 Mon. - Dri.

goddess of beauty seducer of all Tiki

AT GREGORY TU'S RCHID 7

MELE HOURS

All Conventional Drinks and Tropical Drink of the Week $1.20

3:00 pm to 6:00 pm daily 338-8540

1055 Thomas Jefferson Street, NW Foundry Building

Free parking BON SOIRÉS

MATH AND STATISTICS tutoring. All

WORK-STUDY IOBS AVAILABLE: Eligible students check CWSP bulletin boards outside: Financial Aid Office, Rice 3rd. Interested, needy, but not yet eligible students contact Financial Aid

WASHINGTON TURKISH STUDENT ALLIANCE General Meeting III: Sun-day, March 12 at 4 p.m. Marvin Center first floor cafeteria. Topic: Activities and progress report. All welcome.

STATISTICAL/MEDICAL typing. Also computer documentation, flow charting available. Correcting selectric/mag card. Experienced. Fast—inexpensive. Deadlines met. Pickup and delivery. Call CP 023 7074 931-7074.

LEGAL TYPING & transcription. Correcting selectric/mag card. Experienced in Harvard/bluebook styles. Inexpensive rates. Deadlines met. Work guaranteed. Call CP: 931-7074.

WASHINGTON TURKISH STUDENT ALLIANCE and Program Board sponsor a Turkish Folkdance Party at 1st floor cafeteria. Sunday, March 12 at 4 p.m. Admission is free.

MAKE GOOD MONEY part timemake. GOOD MONEY part time-campus representative needed for fun and easy to sell product—no gimmicks— proven campus winner—we show you how—send name, address, phone no, school, year of graduation along with self-addressed stamped envelope to FP, Inc.; 136 Lakeshore Dr.; Mariboro, Ma. 01752

DISSERTATIONS, thesis, typing. Turabian. APA, MLA, Mod. Scientific styles. Correcting Selectric/mag card. References furnished. Work guaranteed. Editing services available Call "CP" 931-7074.

The HATCH The HATCH ATTENTION STUDENTS from the following areas: Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas-Fort Worth and California. The Admissions Office is interested in establishing better contact with prospective students in these areas. As a current student you are the most reliable source of information about the University for these students. If you are interested in speaking to these students over spring break and the summer months please contact the Admissions Office, X. 6054. We need your help in organizing an effective program.

TYPING— Correcting Selectric/Mag card. Fast— inexpensive. Large and small projects/repetitive letters. Dead-lines met. Pickup and delivery. Rush service available. Call CP 931-7074.

Folklore Society of Greater Weshington press Tommy Makem

SAT., MARCH 11, 8:00 P.M.-LISNER AUDITOHIUM, GWU
$6.50, 5.50. Ticketron Inc. all Mont. Wards, Seers, (Mont. Mell; Landmark, Arlington, White Oak), Discount Record & Book (1340 Conn., 5484 Wisc. & White Fleet), U. of Md. Student U. Also Telbert Tickets, Wash. Hotel, Record & Tape (19th & L, 1239 Wisc., 1701 Penn.) or send stamped self-addressed envelope and check to Stanley Williams, Presentation, 1715 37th St., N.W., Wash., D.C., 20007.

Colonials' Season Has Its Ups And Downs

GW's basketball team had its ups and downs this season, with most of the downs coming in the final weeks of the season, as the Buff lost their last five

Early in the season, Tom Glenn and Mike Zagardo played like a pair of senior All-Americans, not sophomores, as they led GW to wins in four of its first five games, including a 101-90 victory over Maryland, the second year in a row GW defeated the Terps in what may have been the last meeting between the two 1977-78 Hoop Results

Then things started to go wrong, as the Buff lost three of four games over vacation. Bob Lindsay, who had scored 25 points in the Maryland game, wasn't shooting much, and Zagardo was the only person who played with any consistency during that stretch.

While Lindsay had a good offensive year, some were puzzled by the mercurial performance of senior forward Les Anderson.

According to coach Bob Tallent, one reason Anderson didn't have the kind of scoring year that everyone expected is that he was too concerned with the other players as team captain.

Anderson had been expected to pick up the offensive slack left by the graduation of John Holloran, but never slack left by the graduation of John Robotan, but hered did fill that expectation.

Anderson did come through in the clutch, however, as he proved in the Colonials' close loss in overtime to Georgetown, sinking a big fallaway jumper over three Hoyas with two seconds left, apparently winning the game for GW. But a heroic basket by reserve Craig Esherick, a shot that no one who saw the game could ever forget, tied the game up and allowed the Hoyas to Glenn played poorly in the first game against Villanova, which the Buff last 90-83. Glenn didn't score a point in that game, and ended up sitting on the bench for most of the second half.

for most of the second nam.

A few times it looked like Glenn was coming out of his slump, but it wasn't until Tallent started Mike Samson instead of Glenn against Georgetown that the popular forward started to play the way he did at the start of the season. It was the first lineup change

Tallent had made in 20 games, as Samson had done a great job coming off the bench all year.

Tom Tate was very effective for GW, especially in the second half of the season, as was Lindsay. Losing only one starter, Anderson, next year's team should be quite a bit better. With Lindsay, Tate, Curtis Jeffries, Daryle Charles and Brian Magid on the squad, Tallent may have more good guards than Buckingham Palace ever

		1
OPPONENT	DATE	RE	SULT I	OC.
Alderson-Broaddus	Nov. 28	W	105-86	H
Richmond	Nov. 30	W.	60-54	A
*Massachusetts	Dec. 3	L	77-73	H
Wisconsin	Dec. 7	W	77-74	H
Maryland	Dec. 10	W	101-90	H
Florida	Dec. 22	L	70-63	N
#Colgate	Dec. 23	W	65-56	N
Virginia Tech	Dec. 30	L	81-79	A
*West Virginia	Jan. 6	L	76-61	A
*Pittsburgh	Jan. 8	W	73-71	A
*Penn State	Jan. 14	W	84-68	H
*Rutgers	Jan.18	W	91-77	H
*Villanova	Jan. 22	L	90-83	A
Catholic	Jan. 24	W	87-67	H
George Mason	Jan. 26	W	78-69
Campbell College	Jan. 28	W	77-63	H
Navy	Jan. 31	W	82-80(of	A (
Boston University	Feb. 2	W	89-66	H
*Villanova	Feb. 4	L	59-58	H
Stetson	Feb. 6	W	96-73	H
*Duquesne	Feb. 9	W	96-74	H
*Rutgers	Feb. 15	L	85-72	A
*Massachusetts	Feb. 18	L	77-57	A
Georgetown	Feb. 22	L	78-77(ot	A (
American	Feb. 25	L	82-78	H
Pittsburgh	March 2	L	85-83	N

*Eastern Eight game

**Eastern Eight tournament at Pittsburgh #Vermont Classic at Burlington, Vt.

Smith Among Stars Playing In Volvo Classic

Some of the world's finest tennis players will be at Smith Center next week for the Volvo Classic March 13-20. The list of players that will be here, which includes Stan Smith, Brian Gottfried, Eddie Dibbs, Arthur Ashe, John Newcombe, Roscoe Tanner and Manuel Orantes, is mpressive to say the least.

Local tennis fans will not, how-the battle between Jimmy Connors, Bjorn Borg and Guiliermo Vilas for the title of the worlds' number one champion, as none of the three will be in the tourney.

The action should be good, though, as Gottfried has been challenging Connors and company for over a year, and is not far behind the top three. Smith is still on the brink of a return to stardom after being sidelined with tennis elbow at being sidelined with tennis elbow at the peak of his career in the early Seventies, when he was the top-player in the world. Orantes won the U.S. Open, the second most presti-gous tournament (behind only Wim-bledon), in 1976.

Dibbs is ranked sixth in the orld, and is second on the Grand Prix tour this season. Connors, Borg and Vilas don't compete on the tour.

Gottfried is the leader in Grand

The Coca-Cola Celebrity Cup will be played this Sunday at the Smith Center, and will feature the Senate team of H. John Heinz (R-Pa.) and Lowell P. Weicker, Jr. (R-Conn.), the Executive branch team of Brock Adams and Hamilton Jordan, the House team of Joseph L Fischer (D-Va.) and Richardson Preyer (D-N.C.), the wild card team of George Stevens and Ethel Kennedy, and the sports team of Redskin Mike Bragg and former 'Skin Sonny

Tickets are available at Ticket-ron, Hermans World of Sporting Goods, and area tennis clubs and shops. For information call 785-5626.

Buff Take Consolation

Freshman guard Linda Barney netted a career high of 36 points in GW's consolation victory over host Salisbury State Saturday in the Eastern Association for Intercolle-giate Athletics for Women regional Barney hit on 12 of 23 shots from the field and 12 of 15 free throws, the field and 12 of 15 free unions, the most points anyone has scored for the Colonials this season. The Buff raised their record to 16-11 with the 85-72 win despite playing for the sixth consecutive time for the sixth consecutive time without a substitute due to four players quitting earlier in the season and an injury to Betsy Luxford.

Sports Shorts

GW senior Willie Gilbert qualified for the National Collegiate Bowling Championship in St. Louis April 4-6 by finishing second in the regional tourney at Penn State last month. The winner of the 32-man championship will represent the U.S. in the World Cup in Japan. Gilbert averaged 197 in the regional tournament.

All women who would like to play softball or soccer for GW should sign up in room 126 of the Smith Center as soon as possible:

trying to come back from an olbow injury. In next weeks' Volvo Tennia Cassic at the Smith Center of the top leants from that will be catapoting with $125,000 an the line.